

Mette Franck

Researcher (PhD student) – Department of Economics

Mette Franck finished her Master's degree in Economics at the University of Copenhagen and afterwards started working at the National Agency of Education and Quality under the Danish Ministry of Education. While working there, she contributed to the methodological strategies for studies of issues related to primary and secondary education. Hereby, she developed an understanding of the educational issues that occupies the minds of Danish policy makers and of the econometric methods, which might be utilized to investigate them.

Today, she is a PhD student at the Department of Economics at CBS.